

Invites you

To partner with in supporting a social cause – helping adolescent school children in challenging their behaviour issues. Our prime responsibility is to raise resources to support services to these children.

Samrakshana feels that persons like you – the financial consultants – are more relevant and appropriate to take this message to the affluent population in order to get their contribution.

Samrakshana is ready to honor your services adequately with dignity in supporting our cause
Together, we believe, we can work for our younger generation and take the pride in lightening their life.

We request you to register your name with us for a social meet.
